OHIO COUNTY FARMERS ORGANIZE TOBACCO POOL

Committee Chosen Here Saturday; Tobacco to Be Handled in County

A meeting of Ohio County growers was held at the court house in Hartford, Saturday afternoon. The assembly was addressed by Hon. Lawrence P. Tanner, of Owensboro, who made a strong plea to the farmers to organize an Ohio County branch of the Green River Tobacco Marketing Association. Mr. L. L. Porter, of Heflin, presided over the meeting and Mr. O. R. Tinsley, acted as Secretary.

After discussing the proposed pooling organization it was decided almost unanimously that an attempt should be made to organize the county. To this end the committee is now having pledges printed and mass meetings have been called for Thursday Dec. 23, at 1 p. m. These meetings will be held at Fordsville, Hartford and Narrows. At each of these meetings an executive committee will be selected to arrange for receiving, grading, pricing or otherwise handling the 1920 crop of tobacco. Arrangements are being made to secure proper financial backing.

The prevailing idea now is to arrange for receiving and handling tobacco at three points in the county. The places that will probably be selected are Hartford, Fordsville and Narrows.

WOMEN VOTERS LEAGUE FORMED

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 18.—The Kentucky League of Women Voters, which takes up the work of the Equal Rights Association, the organization which fought successfully for the ballot for women, was launched formally at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Phoenix Hotel of women representing practically all sections of the State.

The organization will be a part of the National League of Women Voters, organized last spring. Kentucky was the forty-seventh State to form a State body.

Miss Mary Bronaugh, Hopkinsville, a leader in the suffrage movement, is a practicing lawyer, a graduate of the University of Chicago. Other officers elected, all of whom will serve until the annual meeting in 1922, were: First vice chairman, Mrs. Herbert Mengel, Louisville; second, Mrs. Samuel M. Wilson, Lexington; third, Mrs. John G. South, Frankfort; fourth, Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, Morehead; treasurer, Mrs. G. B. Roberts, Marion; recording secretary, Miss Sarah Mahan, Danville, corresponding secretary, Miss Mildred Anderson, Louisville.

To Be Nonpartisan
Fearing the accusation of partisanship, the women, after a spirited debate, voted to strike out of the tentative constitution a section which provided that "members of the board of directors and the chairmanships shall be equally divided between the two political parties." The constitution adopted states that members of the league may be members of any political party, and it is stated that the league shall be nonpartisan. No other references are made to the political parties.

Amendment of the constitution at some future meeting was made easier by an amendment adopted to the tentative document providing that the constitution may be changed at annual meetings by a two-thirds vote, providing notice of the proposed change is sent to congressional district organizations two months before the meeting, or without notice at the annual meeting by a four-fifths vote. The original provision was for a year's notice before change or a unanimous vote without previous notice. The motion for the change was introduced by Mrs. E. L. Hutchinson, Lexington.

NO SANTA CLAUS FOR THESE NAUGHTY BOYS

West Orange, N. J., Dec. 18.—Christmas this year is to be a joyless festival for three West Orange boys of 10 to 12 years who were sentenced by City Recorder John D. Lander to receive no holiday presents, take no part in any Christmas festivities and go to bed at 6:30 every evening for a month, including Christmas Eve.

The youngsters, who appeared in court, accompanied by their parents, were convicted of breaking into a school and stealing pencils and money from the teacher's desk, and on another occasion tinkering with the automobile of Rev. Alfred Roy Eason so that the minister could not start it when he was to go home after a church service.

ESCAPED LYNX CAUSES TERROR IN McCRACKEN

Paducah, Ky., Dec. 18.—For weeks pigs, fowl, calves and occasionally family watch dogs have been found dead in the Woodville section of McCracken County. In every instance the throat had been cut as though with a surgeon's knife.

Weird stories of an "ax man" being at large began to circulate. Others reported that a man-eating panther had been seen.

At a neighborhood meeting, a reward of $100 was raised.

The next morning, a 200-pound hog belonging to Jesse Hooks was found dead, its throat cut. Hooks organized a searching party and, with a pack of the best hounds in the county took the trail. The quarry finally was brought to bay in a small cove. The dogs rushed in, but came out howling with pain. Hooks crept close enough to see two fiery eyeballs, and fired.

The rifle ball killed a "Northern" lynx an animal unknown to this section. It is believed to have escaped from a traveling menagerie.

WOMEN TEACHERS SCORED

Toledo Housewives Demand More Sensible Clothing

Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 20.—Women schoolteachers were urged to tone down in their school costumes and make-up and to set an example of sensible clothing to their pupils in a resolution adopted by the Toledo Housewives' League the other day.

"How can you expect young girls to have sensible ideas," demanded Mrs. H. F. Hahn, State Chairman of the league, who introduced the resolution, "when their teacher comes to school with the neck line of her dress down to her waist and her skirts up to her knees?"

"We women have got to do something about the way women are dressing to-day. We'll soon be dressing like the South Sea Island women, in nothing but a fig leaf. I actually believe we would be more respectably dressed that way."

CORA MCCOY SPRANKLE DEAD

Mrs. Cora McCoy Sprankle died at Danville, Ill., Dec. 11. She recently underwent an operation for cancer of the stomach at Lake View Hospital in that city. Burial occurred at Spring Hill cemetery, Dec. 15. She was a sister of Mr. J. P. McCoy, of near Hartford. Upon learning of her illness, Mr. McCoy left for Danville, Dec. 10 arriving there the following day. She knew her brother but was too weak to converse with him.

While in Illinois, Mr. McCoy visited his daughter, Marie, at Colfax, and on his return he changed trains at Bloomington. Here he met John R. McCoy, his oldest son, who was enroute home from Stanford, Ill., where he had been husking corn. They returned together, arriving in Hartford, Dec. 18.

The United States grand jury at Bowling Green, to which United States District Attorney W. MAY POLL VETERANS ON CASH BONUS PLAN

Washington, Dec. 17.—A poll of all former service men must be taken on the kind of bonus they want before any soldier legislation is undertaken by Congress. Republican members of the Senate finance committee informed representatives of various soldier organizations at a hearing.

It was considered whether or not service men insist upon a cash bonus. It was stated, very little chance exists of a bill being passed at the present session.

This decision was announced by the majority members of the committee, after the hearing had disclosed that considerable difference of opinion exists among former soldiers as to the kind of legislation desired. Gilbert Bettman of Cincinnati, chairman of the American Legion's executive committee, expressed the opinion that not more than 50 per cent of the veterans are in favor of a cash bonus.

In the neighborhood of 200,000 former service men have written about obtaining farms. Payment of $125 for each day spent in the service would, he pointed out, be 40 per cent less than the veterans could obtain by any other plan of relief from the government.

Mr. Bettman's statement was immediately challenged by Senator Smoot of Utah, who asserted that postal cards and letters which close the mail of senators indicate that fully 55 per cent express a preference for cash and that only two per cent ask for one of the three other options, which are recreational training, home aid and insurance.

Other senators joining in the discussion declared that if only one-half the men ask for a cash bonus it will require $1,500,000, and that there is strong opposition to appropriating such an amount at this time.

Doubt was expressed that it will be possible to pass a cash bonus plan at the extra session, which will be called soon after March 4.

In the hearing room there were two stacks of cards, each more than a foot high, addressed to Chairman Pearce, asking for relief on behalf of the service men. Thirteen cards taken from one stack at random by Senator McCumber showed that 10 favored a cash bonus, two were for some other plan and the other expressed no opinion.

Mr. Bettman expressed the opinion that a poll might be taken by the American Legion, but this would include only 2,000,000, less than half the veterans. The committee agreed that a general poll of the entire 4,500,000 would be of more value, but offered no suggestion as to how the poll is to be taken.

BASKET BALL TEAMS STILL PLAYING WELL

Boys Have Lost But One Game; Girls Hold Opponents to Close Score

In the basket ball game played on the local court, Thursday night, the Clarkson High School Boys' Team defeated the Hartford High School Boys' Team by the score of 28 to 27. This was a hotly contested game and was exceedingly close from the beginning. This was the first defeat suffered by the local boys this season, and they have played some of the fastest teams in Western Kentucky.

The Clarkson High School Girls' Team defeated the Hartford High School Girls by a score of 17 to 14, in a very interesting game the same night.

Both High School teams went to Greenville, last Saturday night. The game there between the Greenville High School Boys' Team and Hartford High School Boys' Team resulted in a score of 24 to 13 in favor of Hartford. The game between the Hartford and Greenville High School Girls Teams, was a tie at the end of the time allotted for the game. It was decided to extend the game in order to untie the score. After 5 minutes playing the Greenville girls scored a majority of 2, the final score being 29 to 18.

The Hartford Freshman Team went to No Creek last Friday night and engaged that school in a game. The result was a score of 40 to 7 in favor of Hartford.

One of the best games of the season was expected tonight, Dec. 22, when the Ohio County Club, from Kentucky State University will enter the lists in opposition to the local team. The game will be played on the local court and as there will be many visitors in town that make a team crowd is expected to witness the game.

Hawesville High School Team is making a tour of this section and will play the local boys Friday night, on the Hartford court. This team recently defeated a fast Owensboro team and is composed of a swift bunch of players.

The Hartford American Legion Team will play the Greenville American Legion Team on the Greenville court Thursday night.

HAWESVILLE H. S. TEAM MAKING PLAYING TOUR

The Hawesville Basket Ball team will leave Wednesday for a four days play at the following places: Owensboro; Central City; Hartford and Beaver Dam. The following are the names of the young men that will go: Capt. Eugene Kelly; Napier; Trumbo; Walz; Foley; Kelly, and Held.

This team is recognized as one of the best teams in this section of the country, and they are going on this circuit with the intention of making Hawesville recognized as the home of the champion Basket Ball Team of the Green River District.

This team played Owensboro in this city last Friday night and won by several points.—Hawesville Clarion.

KENTUCKY S. U. HAS FEW OUTSIDE STUDENTS

Ohio County Has Good Representation According to Her Population

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 20.—Reports that a large percentage of the student body of the University of Kentucky this year was composed of students from other states and foreign countries were denied in a statement issued here by Register Ezra L. Gilla. He declared that of the approximately 1,300 students, only seventy-four have been registered from outside of Kentucky.

Figures given out by the registrar show that twenty-four states, including Kentucky, and two foreign countries—Russia and Australia, with one student each—are represented in the student body. One hundred and seven Kentucky counties have representation, no students being recorded from Adair, Allen, Clinton, Greenup, Jackson, Leslie, Lyon, Martin, Metcalfe, Monroe, Owsley, Powell and Rowan counties.

Total Enrollment Is 14,380

Since the university was first opened in the fall of 1866, total enrollment of students has been 14,380. Of these 1,235 were from other states and 69 from foreign countries. Degrees granted total 1,931, including 1,679 men and 398 women. One hundred and eighty-five graduates took post-graduate work while twenty-three graduate of other universities took post-graduate work. Total of 67 honorary degrees were awarded.

The number of students from other states in the university this year, the books of the registrar show, were Indiana, 12; Ohio, 12; Tennessee, 5; Oklahoma, 4; Virginia, 4; Florida, 4; North Carolina, 4; New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Texas and Georgia, three each; Alabama, California, Illinois and West Virginia, two each; and Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Mississippi and Washington, one each.

FARMERS' AID BILLS INCREASE

Washington, December.—Proponents of legislation to revive the War Finance Corporation and thereby afford relief to farmers confronted by falling prices plan to call up their measure in the Senate and ask for its immediate passage. Senator Asle J. Gronna, Republican, North Dakota, in charge of the resolution, gave this notice in asking that the Senate let the matter go over until the later date.

Supporters of the proposed legislation said they had received assurances that Senate leaders would not oppose the measure which can be brought before the Senate either by unanimous consent or by majority vote.

While farm relief legislation was being temporarily postponed in the Senate, the flood of bills to extend relief to the farmers continued in the House.

Among the various measures was a bill by Representative J. C. Strong, Republican, Kansas, to direct the Committee on Banking and Currency to investigate what legislation would be necessary to permit the "proper financing" of farmers, and stock raisers.

But for the work of American Red Cross agents in all regions of Poland during the last twelve months, hundreds of thousands of people in that tragic country today would be under the sod, victims of hunger, disease and exposure. The job in Poland is one of tremendous proportions and cannot be abandoned for many months to come. Here is a typical scene: A Red Cross worker "at the throttle" of a soup kitchen where hundreds of undernourished women and children are fed daily.

LEAF HELP SEEN IN U. S. STORAGE ACT

Licensing of Warehouses to Relieve Financial Ills, U. S. Agents Say

Washington, Dec. 18.—Relief for Kentucky tobacco growers who are refusing to sell their product because of low prices may be obtained through the United States Warehouses Act. Through its provisions they soon may be able to store their tobacco in warehouses licensed by the Government, obtain receipts for it, and with the receipts as security, borrow money to tide over until prices enable them to sell.

Within a week, warehousemen may apply for licenses, which will be issued as soon thereafter as possible. F. B. Wilkinson, in charge of the Tobacco Division of the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, said.

Then when the warehouses are licensed they will be available to the growers as a means of realizing money on their crops. With these warehouses in operation, the tobacco growers may proceed to hold their crops without suffering financially, just as the wool producers and the cotton growers have under the regulations already issued for warehouses for those products.

Many Licensed Houses Seen

"Of course, we do not know how many warehousemen in Kentucky will wish to become licensed but judging from the general interest manifested in the provision of the law for other crops we expect a number of them to make applications for licenses when we send out the final regulations and application blanks in about a week," Mr. Wilkinson said.

"When sufficient warehouses are licensed it will not be necessary for farmers to haul their tobacco back to their barns if the prices being offered on the market are not high enough to enable them to sell. By storing their product in the licensed warehouses they may realize more on their crops in the way of loans than they otherwise possibly could. The receipts from licensed warehouses make acceptable security for the local banks."

Final regulations for tobacco warehouses already have been approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and are now being printed.

Plans Grading System

This summary will point out that any warehouse suitable for the storage of tobacco may apply for a license. A representative of the Bureau of Markets will be detailed to examine the warehouse. It will show that any person may apply for a license to inspect, or weigh tobacco stored in a licensed warehouse; that warehousemen licensed do not have to confine their business to the storage only; and that while the rate of storage and other charges to be made by the warehousemen will be fixed by him, unreasonable charges may not be made.

The bureau already is working out a system for grading tobacco such as was recommended by the Federal Trade Commission in its report to the House on the tobacco markets. Mr. Wilkinson said. These standard systems of grading will be used in the licensed warehouses and also will be available for warehouses where tobacco is being marketed, he said.

WOULD BUY CAMP TAYLOR FOR $1,000,000

Louisville Realty Company Is Ready to Bid in Camp to Sell in Parcels

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 16.—More than $1,000,000 will be offered for Camp Zachary Taylor by the Louisville Real Estate and Development Company, D. C. Clarke, president, announced last night, following a conference with members of the concern.

Should the bid be accepted, Mr. Clarke declared, the land will be auctioned in small parcels. Delay in making the offer, according to Mr. Clarke, came about by failure of all members of the company to be present in Louisville for a conference. He declared that the status of the matter was unknown to them until yesterday, when they returned to Louisville.

Members of the company contemplate a trip to Washington if they are assured that the matter has not been finally closed, he said.

Material Needed for Homes

"We believe that the material at the camp is much needed for building purposes at home," Mr. Clarke said. "If it should find its way into the hands of outside companies the city probably would be deprived of much of the lumber."

Although he would not make known the exact nature of the plan evolved by his associates, he said that he believed it would prove more satisfactory than any yet evolved.

Members of the concern and a number of its employees yesterday visited the cantonment on an inspection tour, and the plan, which anticipated acceptance of the bid, was "threshed out" at last night's conference.

Time for Bids Up Today

The week allowed for extension of the time of closing bids ends today. Further action may be taken by officers of the Real Estate Division this afternoon, according to a telegram from The Courier-Journal's Washington Bureau.

The message said that revised bids and several new ones have been received, but that officers of the War Department refused to make known the names of the bidders or the amounts offered.

KENTUCKY WOMAN'S CREMATION SIFTED

Aberdeen, Miss., Dec.—An exhaustive inquest is being held here in the death of Mrs. A. W. Thweatt, formerly of Livermore, Ky., who was cremated early last Wednesday morning when her home was burned after explosion of an oil stove.

It was disclosed at the inquest that the body was horribly mutilated. No trace of the skull has been found.

Her husband testified that his wife carried $28,000 life insurance, issued five or six months ago.

Many witnesses, including a brother of the dead woman, were heard and the inquest, which lasted until the next day.

The Thweatts came here from Livermore November 23. Mr. Thweatt formerly was in the real estate business in the Kentucky city. It was his second marriage. Four children, by his first wife, live here.

HARDING ASKS MOTHERS TO AID SCHOOL OFFICIALS

Pleads That Religious Training Be Kept in Province Of the Home

Marion, O., Dec. 15.—American mothers were asked by President-elect Warren G. Harding tonight to give to school officials and other public servants a full measure of co-operation in the educational, religious and physical training of children.

Speaking here before a State meeting of the Child Conservation League, Mr. Harding declared it the duty of motherhood to keep the old time home spirit alive in spite of the growing tendency to intrust the instruction of the child almost wholly to public institutions.

He made a particular plea that religious training be kept within the province of the hearth and voiced a hope for a revival of religious reverence in the trying times ahead.

Welfare Department Possible

The President-elect also asked that the public welfare agencies of the nation be kept democratic, and expressed disapproval of the practice of the rich in withdrawing their children from the public schools and entering them in private institutions.

He reaffirmed his hope that great good would be accomplished by the new Public Welfare Department to be proposed by his Administration and said he had found sentiment in and out of Congress strongly supporting the plan.

The address was delivered at the end of one of Mr. Harding's business days since he began his consultations on an association of nations and other public problems.

His callers included Raymond Robins, Chicago, a former leader of the Progressive party; Senator A. B. Fall, New Mexico, and George Fred Williams, a former American Minister to Greece, and the conferences are understood to have covered many foreign and domestic questions.

Cabinet Selections a Topic

Mr. Fall, the first member of the Senate to visit the President-elect since his return to Marion, came from Washington and is said to have given Mr. Harding detailed advice on numerous subjects that have been talked over among Republican leaders in Congress. It was indicated that Cabinet selections was one of the topics discussed and that much attention also, was given to the financial situation.

Mr. Fall is an advocate of immediate aid to the agricultural interests of the country and told the President-elect that unless something was done in the next three months serious dislocation of food markets would occur.

Confidence of an acceptable solution of the peace struggle was expressed by Mr. Fall, who said after the conference that he believed the President-elect's consultations here were progressing toward a peace plan that would permit America to regain world leadership. He said he personally believed the best solution would be a new peace conference at Washington at which European nations would be eager to be present.

Senator Fall, who has been mentioned in some quarters for a Cabinet position has been irreconcilably opposed to the treaty of Versailles, but he said he knew of no irreconcilable Senators, who wanted no world peace associations at all.

Economic Situation Reviewed

Mr. Robins' talk with the President-elect was directed toward economic and social conditions abroad although the financial and labor situation in the United States also was discussed. Mr. Williams presented a carefully prepared association plan, which he said was favorably regarded by a number of prominent Americans. During the day Mr. Harding also talked with Will A. Pears Des Moines, Iowa, about the movement for exchange of scholarships between universities in Mexico and the United States. Afterward Mr. Pears said the plan had the President-elect's hearty approval, though he did not consider it a matter for governmental action.

Christmas nineteen hundred twenty promises to be the sanest in many generations. It is said that Christmas was first observed in the year ninety eight and the purpose of this holiday has ever been to celebrate the birth of our Savior. It is altogether fitting and proper that it should be a day of merriment but it is not right that it should be a day of holiness; it is within the bounds of reason that it should be a day of festivity, but it should not be used as a day of debauchery.
For many generations this season has been regarded by many as a time when the rules of decency and order may be laid aside; a period when even those who are sober and orderly during the remainder of the year may indulge in drunkenness and rioting. Many have been the homes wherein the pleasure of Christmas was marred by the drink-en actions of some member of the household; many have been the dollars spent for rum that should have gone to purchase the means of innocent pleasure for the family.
But thanks to those who had the nerve to stand for the right through many hard fought battles, we now are enjoying a period when men are men, not demons; when families may approach the Yuletide season with delight instead of dread.
In times past women and children could not safely walk the streets and highways at Christmas time; in times present, they may go their way without fear of drunken molestation. It seems but yesterday that we watched the press columns with fear and trembling to see how many were killed in the Christmas drunken brawl; today we watch the same columns with pleasant anticipation to see how many lives were saved by charitable contributions.

Why is basket ball, foot ball, base ball? You, in turn, ask "Why this question?" Our reason is this: Of-times players of these and other competitive games forget the purposes of these sports and convert them into games of trickery, deceit, bulldozing, and in fact anything to get the desired score. Competitive games were originated for the purpose of creating wholesome pleasure, physical development and a desire to excel. The players should be animated by a spirit of friendly rivalry. They should at no time harbor a desire to gain an unmerited advantage in the game. No team ever obtained a lasting fame by the use of underhand methods. The public demands clean athletics and is quick to censure a player or team that persists in using unfair means of obtaining their ends. Players should go into the game with a determination to win by their own merits and not by the trickery of any player, the umpire or referee.
If they honestly win, the knowledge that it was a real victory is worth every effort exerted; if they honestly try and lose, they know wherein their weaknesses lie and are filled with a determination to correct these and try again. Clean athletics is something that should be taught in every school. Most schools, including our local High School, teach this, but it is to be regretted that some High Schools and some teachers in Kentucky drive into their pupils the idea that "He shall take who has the power And he shall keep who can," regardless of morals or established rules and regulations.

BOOTLEGGERS

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—Airplanes are being used by an organized band of bootleggers for liquor smuggling operations across the United States border, Winnipeg police reported the other day.

"The officials," according to a Winnipeg newspaper, "now have full evidence, proving the most thorough and costly organization on the part of lawbreakers, even to the extent that American smugglers have been, and are guaranteed, by certain liquor dealers and bootleggers against interferences by Canadian law, so that when smugglers are captured, the liquor people with whom they do business in Manitoba, pay the penalties."

Within the last two months, the newspaper declared, 44 automobiles have been seized by the mounted police and customs officials while actually engaged in smuggling operations.

BLIGHT LEFT BY HURRICANE

Somewhat Resembles That Caused by Heavy Frost—Heavy Salt Spray and Mist Blamed.

The kind of damage that a hurricane causes is pretty generally known, but, as a contributor points out, one phase of it is overlooked in most descriptions. For this no better name can be given than hurricane blight.

In the great hurricane of September, 1919, which came out of the lower Bahamas and swept over Key West, the area of hurricane blight, as observed on the Florida east coast, reached almost to Palm Beach. After the hurricane had passed, the coast looked as if a great frost had fallen on it. Near the water front scarcely a leaf was left on the trees, and for a distance of 50 to 100 yards back from the water the grass lay withered and brown.
Flowers had shriveled and perished, and even the fronds of the huge coco palms had blackened and curled at the tips, and turned sear halfway to the stems.

For three days and nights the wind had driven the salt spray and mist against the foliage and grass, and by morning of the fourth day nothing bright and green remained. It is this salty spray and mist, driven with stinging force by the gale, that causes hurricane blight.

Recovery is even slower than recovery from frost stroke; it is a full month before the pall of hurricane blight begins to disappear as the new growth arrives.

Old residents of the lower glade country, especially along the coast, have an unfulfilling faith in sea grapes as a hurricane sign. A heavy yield of this fruit, that grows wild along the lower Florida coast, is regarded by them as a sure forecast of a big "blow." They declare that the sign has never failed; so when the branches of the sea-grape tree hang low with fruit the old inhabitants know what to expect. In the fall of 1919 there was an almost unprecedented crop of sea grapes.

Hurricane blight does not affect the sea-grape tree. The leaves weather the gale and salt spray and emerge from the ordeal almost as fresh and green as ever. Only the fruit is blown down.

The tree is generally crooked and twisted, and unattractive in appearance. It grows along the beach, frequently in the water, and its fruit, which is like the common grape in size, grows in clusters. When ripe, it has a plash-purple hue.

Although little used at present, the fruit is fairly palatable, and probably in the near future it may be prized as food, particularly in the form of jams, jellies and preserves.—Youth's Companion.

After Using.

The woman was the author of a cookery book that had been published at her request with wide margins and occasional blank pages for notes and additional recipes.

Often she had expressed a wish to see an old copy of the book and find to what use the blank spaces had been put. One day in a second-hand book store her husband unearthed an old volume. Noticing that it had been annotated freely, he bought it. After a day or two he said:

"How about the notes in that cookery book? Were they interesting?"
"No," she said curtly; "they didn't amount to anything."

When he got a chance he looked through the book himself. Every note the book contained was a remedy for dyspepsia and kindred ailments.—

Quite Superfluous.

After a little tea party the children were playing some game quietly in a corner of the room.

The lady of the house was curious to know what was keeping them so interested, so she called her own girl toward her.

"What game are you playing Mollie?" she asked.

"Weddings, mother," replied the small girl. "I'm the bride, and Margery Jones is the bridesmaid."

"And who is the bridegroom?" asked mother, knowing that there was no small boy among the guests.

"Oh," came the quick answer, "this is only a very quiet wedding, you know."—London Answers.

FRIENDS

(By Percy W. Reynolds)
They don't care how low you fell;
For oftentimes in the midst of hell
A soul is born.
It's whether you get up again
And take your proper place with men,
That "counts for corn."

They'll forget you "slipped a trace"
If you possess the heart to face
The crowd who sneer.
They'll admit you'll bear some brunt
But if you'll grin and do your stunt,
You'll win a cheer.

They have faith you'll make a hit
If you will only do your bit
And make amends.
It's up to you yourself to start;
But, listen! Let this stir your heart:
You sure have friends.

of shooting will be successful.

WILL HE COME IN?

The Heart of Christmas

"I fear we are going to have a very poor Christmas at our house," said Jane to Florence as they were walking home from school.

"You know father's been out of work on account of the strike, and mother's long illness will make it next to impossible to buy gifts for the children. And we may not even have a Christmas tree!" And at the thought of a Christmas without a tree, her voice which had been tremulous, broke into a half stifled sob.

Florence looked very thoughtful, then said in comforting tones, "But your father's at work again isn't he?"

"Yes."

"And your mother's health is much better."

"Yes, we expect her downstairs for Christmas day."

"Well, then I think, Jane, that you should have great cause for rejoicing at your house—Christmas tree, or no Christmas tree."

"I had not thought of that Florence, but you are right."

"Sometimes, I think we lose the real spirit of Christmas," continued Jane, "by thinking that Christmas comes from what we get or give instead of realizing that it is right in our hearts."

By this time the friends had come to the parting of the way, and with a friendly nod and "Goodbye," went to their homes to vision anew the possibilities of Christmas.

OPPOSED TO CHRISTMAS PIE

The Puritans were not alone in their opposition to mince or Christmas pie. The Quakers also fought against it, and at length even many good people of the Church of England began to think that clergymen should abstain from it, against which prejudice Bickerville thus remonstrates: "The Christmas pie is, in its own nature, a kind of consecrated cake or badge of distinction, and yet it is often forlorn the druid of the family. Strange that a sirloin of beef, whether boiled or roasted, when entire is expected to the utmost depredations and invasions, but if minced into small pieces and tossed up with plums and sugar it changes the property, and forsooth is meat for his master."

SANTA CLAUS

Beyond the ocean many a mile,
And many a year ago,
There lived a wonderful queer old man
In a wonderful house of snow;
And every little boy and girl,
As Christmas times arrive,
No doubt will be very glad to hear
The old man is still alive.

In his house upon the top of a hill,
And almost out of sight,
He keeps a great many elves at work,
All working with all their might
To make a million of pretty things,
Cakes, sugar-plums and toys,
To fill the stockings, hung up, you know,
By the little girls and boys.

A SAFE AND SANE CHRISTMAS

Societies are being organized whose members are pledged against giving Christmas gifts outside their immediate families. Christmas giving has been overdone, and if the intemperance can be checked in that way, well and good. But let us hope the "reformers" will not try by legal enactment to impose their views upon others. There are many things in this life to be remedied, and most of them should be remedied without resort to legislation.—Tacoma (Wash.) Ledger.

WHY JIMMY PRAYED SO LOUD

Pick and Jimmy were visiting their grandmother. One night when they were saying their prayers Jimmy raised his petitions for Christmas presents in a tone that could be heard a mile.

"Why do you pray for your Christmas presents so loud?" interrupted Grandma. "The Lord ain't deaf."

"No," whispered Jimmy, "but Grandma is."

COLD-BLOODED WITH GIFTS

Program for Those Persons Who Think Santa Claus Deception Should Come to End.

We have tried to work out a little Christmas program for those who object to Santa Claus. We respect the opinions of all who think the deception should be stopped and feel that we ought to help them to arrange a disillusionized and thoroughly harmless Christmas—what you might call a germless and renovated and disinfected and veracious joy season—which the children will take hold of with enthusiasm without in after days wishing to upbraid their parents and hiss at them, "You lied to us!"

We suggest, therefore, that the children be called together on Christmas morning by the governor and addressed as follows:

"Kids: We shall now enjoy our gift giving. I tore off a few seals from my roll the other day and handed them to your mother, and she dived headlong into the bargain counter flood and for two whole days appeared not again, and when she did crawl out, battered, jammed, ragged, torn, bruised and old, she clutched to her bosom these few gimeracks, fol-de-rols and highly un-serviceable articles. We have placed them upon these chairs so as to divest the business of any stage effects that might heighten the pleasure in any way or give a false impression. You are to understand that I had to give up for these things, and I wish to forget about it before I feel real good inside again, and with these few remarks we will now fall to, and you want to be quick about it, for I want to read my paper in peace."—Judge.

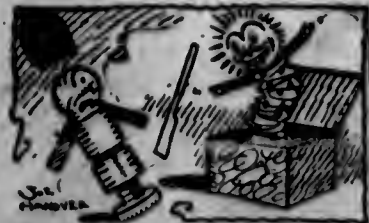

WONDERFUL SPIRIT OF GIVING

Another year is nearing its close and with its ending comes that glad time, the Christmas holiday season. The absent ones are home again or if they cannot come there are the letters and tokens to be sent and received. The remembrance need not be expensive as to money value, to be very much appreciated.

Christmas is pre-eminently the children's day. Do not insist that Santa will not remember them if they are not good. For we all know that Santa Claus will surely come and the children know it, too. He did not forget us in our own childhood whether we were very, very good or not. Let us teach the children about the wonderful spirit of loving and giving that brings a happy Christmas time.

FIRST CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCE

It is said that Christmas was first observed in the year 98 and that it was not until the year 137 that it was made a solemn feast. Pope Telesphorus decreed that it should be celebrated by all Christians in that year. On one early Christmas day the Roman Emperor Diocletian, hearing that the Christians assembled in their church were engaged in celebrating the birth of Christ, commanded that the doors of the church be closed and the building set on fire. This was done and six hundred persons lost their lives in the burning church.

A BRAVE SOLDIER
Jack-in-the-Box: Ha, ha, you're a brave soldier, to be scared of me.

A THRIFTY SAINT
"Don't you think holidays tempt us to extravagance?"
"Not at all. If you will study the pictures of Santa Claus, you will observe he has on the same old clothes he has worn for years."

Best Christmas for a Boy

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

(C. 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

AS ONE boy to another—for I have never gotten over being one, although I am getting as gray as a billy-goat around the ears—I want to give it as my opinion that a Christmas anywhere but in the country is no Christmas at all!

A city Christmas is a make-believe, a hollow mockery, a false alarm, an imitation. I have tried both kinds, and so I know. A city Christmas has all the tin and tinsel, and that is all. By the time you get as old and feel as young as I am, you find most of the plate worn off.

Honestly, boys (and girls), I don't think Santa Claus himself ever feels very much at home except on a rural route! He has a mighty poor job in a big town, with flues instead of chimneys, and everything. And it is hard to see where he gets room to turn a sleigh and eight reindeer around, tiny reindeer though they may be. He'll be pretty certain to bump into a hydrant or tip over on a curb.

And with twenty families all using one line (and, what is worse, a soft coal line at that) how in the world is the most experienced Santa going to find which is Brown's and which is Smith's, and where the Greens live? Even if he dared rap and ask (which no Santa Claus is ever supposed to do) nobody could tell him. For perhaps the Browns and the Smiths have never "met," and the Greens might live across the hall for a month before anybody thought to inquire their name.

For that is one thing you don't get much of in the city—neighbors. Sometimes when the woman across the road keeps running in just when your mother is canning, or baking, or treating a shirt-bosom kidly but firmly with a flat-iron, your mother may almost wish that they weren't quite so plentiful in the country—but she wouldn't. She would miss them, just the same as you would miss having the same boys to play with year after year.

For in the city you are always getting a fresh lot of playmates—and sometimes they are a mighty fresh lot, too. Of course there are some good kids, also, but it always seems that just when you get to liking some fellow up the street or across the alley, the landlord boosts the rent and his folks have to move, and you never see him again. He may move only from one side of the city to the other, but it might as well be to another state. It is live or ten or twenty miles—miles of houses, no miles of this, and streetcar tracks, and railroads, and factories—and you never see him again or any of his folks.

The boys you know this Christmas probably won't be around at all next Christmas, if you live in the city. That is a funny thing about city folks: they are always going somewhere and never getting anywhere. Why, even if the landlord didn't raise the rent October 1 or May 1 or whenever the lease expires, they might move anyway? People who live in flats instead of homes are always looking for something better and getting something worse. They have the most wonderful collection of rent receipts, but not a foot of ground, not a roof or gutter, they can call their own.

Now, I don't know what you think, but I think that every family ought to have a house of its own, a house it lives in year after year. That is, of course, unless the father has some sort of job that makes it necessary for him to move to some other town every other year or so. But it is a great thing to live in a home, not just a house, and that is about the best place, and the only place, to have a Christmas, a real, sure-enough, honest-to-goodness Christmas.

Most of you boys who live on the farm and in the small town have that kind of home, and I wonder if you know how lucky you are? Wouldn't you hate to wake up Christmas morning and look at the ceiling and realize that someone else owned it, and then get up and go out in the front yard and realize that someone else owned that, too—why, you'd get so after awhile that, everything you saw, you would wonder who owned it!

I tell you, boys, it's a great satisfaction to have a back yard and to know it's yours, and that you can invite people into it, or invite people to stay out of it, just as you please. Why, that is what brought the Pilgrim Fathers to America—they wanted a spot they could call their own. I don't say that it was exactly a back yard they wanted, but what they wanted was some place they could play ball and no landlord of a king could come along and say, "I want to stop because they made track some of the royal windows." You know old King George did a lot of that kind of thing. And then there is this matter of snow. You know some people don't think it is much of a Christmas without snow. Now, I know quite a lot of people who have been acquainted with a lot of it. I have seen it through it up in the Hudson valley, and I've wallowed around in the snow on top of the mountains. And I want to tell you that there is a great difference in snow—that is, there is a great difference between country snow and city snow.

We may not have snow this Christmas, but we'll just suppose we do. Isn't a good, old lively snowstorm great? Perhaps it is one of these lazy snowstorms, with the big, white flakes just floating down like feathers and slowly turning the roads and roofs to white, like a coat of good white paint. Maybe there will be enough of it to make good coasting on the hills and good sleighing on the roads.

And, by the way, do you know there are boys in the big cities who have never seen a sleigh? Because a sleigh is getting to be a scarce article in the cities. You see, as soon as a little snow comes the street-cleaning department gets busy and sweeps it up, before it gets a chance to melt into slush.

In the country the winter wheat needs it, and the ground takes care of it. But in the city it just means slop and slush. So they sweep it up and carry it away and uncover the ugly pavement as soon as they can.

But they let you keep your snow in the country. When a warm wind comes along it will pack flue, and you can have your snow-men, and your snow forts, and your snowball battles. (Only please don't use your artillery on older folks, or girls, or me.)

Or perhaps this snowstorm is one of the hillzardy kind, with the wind zipping around the house and piling

Snowballs Through Royal Windows.

the snow up in the corners—why that kind of snow doesn't seem to come down at all, but just goes slanting by until it runs up against something it can't pass.

I remember being on a night train one time; and when we woke up in the morning, and the train was running over the smooth prairies, a little girl from a big city in western Pennsylvania (I won't tell you what city it was but maybe you can guess) exclaimed as she looked out of the window:

"Look, Mamma! The snow out here is white!"

I don't need to say much about the Christmas dinner. But if you have your Christmas dinner in the country, the turkey perhaps is one your folks raised, or that was raised in the neighborhood—anyhow, it is pretty likely to be a native, and not a resident of a cold storage plant somewhere. Or maybe you'll have a goose or a brace of chickens. Anyway, you'll know their pedigree, and that they're fresh and good.

And it will be the same way all down the line—vegetables, and pies, and everything. And cooked!—cooked to a turn—just long enough—just short enough—just right.

And you will more than likely have one thing that they won't have at the Christmas dinner in the city, because you know the cost of living just now is mighty high, in town especially, for both rich and poor. So you will have one thing that the city boy probably will not have—

Enough!

So I could go on and show you a dozen other ways in which a Christmas in the country puts it all over a Christmas in the city, but I am going to mention just one thing more: the Christmas tree.

Of course they have Christmas trees in the city. In New York trainloads of them come down every season from the Adirondacks, and in Chicago boatloads come from Michigan's upper peninsula. You can buy them for fifty cents or a dollar, and they make very good Christmas trees indeed.

I don't know what you think about this either—but I have always thought that things I did myself and for myself were just twice the fun of things I bought myself or hired myself. And I thought especially about a Christmas tree. If you are lucky enough to be able to go out and pick your own tree, and chop it down, and bring it in—well, that's what I call a real Christmas tree!

Because that is really and truly your Christmas tree. You selected it with your own eye and chopped it down with your own axe and brought it home with your own muscle. The Christmas tree—that is your job:

Bringing in the Tree

Father gets the turkey.
Mother makes the pies.
Each one has a Christmas job
To do, and so have I.
Sister strings the popcorn
To decorate—but, gee!
I have got the biggest job—
Bringing in the tree!

Turkey is important,
Pie and such are great.
Popcorn strings you have to have
When you decorate.
But I guess a Christmas Christmas wouldn't be
If you didn't have a boy
Bringing in the tree!

SNUFF REPLACES LIQUOR

When Scots' Charitable Society Gather in Boston

Boston.—The cup that cheers was replaced by the snuff that exhilarates when the Scots' Charitable Society revived an old custom at its annual dinner to take the place of ante-prohibition toasts. Scotch snuff from a silver mounted ram's horn was passed about the tables.

First to take a cautious pinch was Governor Calvin Coolidge, Vice President-elect, who was the chief guest. From him the horn went down the board. Sneezes followed, and handkerchiefs were displayed generally.

Soon afterwards Professor Charlton Black, of Boston University, related an anecdote directed to despondent victims of the eighteenth amendment. It was the warning of an old Scotchman to his son against too liberal use of snuff, with the statement that, "I've been drunker on sneezum than I ever was on whisky."

The guests sneezed again, and then the speakers had their say.

HAPPINESS

To live and be happy—to make others happy—to develop our minds and make the best of the intelligence which has been given to us—these are the things that all should strive to accomplish! To foster this spirit of love for humanity is our idea of a life well performed. We can succeed only in proportion to the extent that we help others succeed! The same rule works just the same when reserved and looked at from your viewpoint. To get we must give! This is a law of nature—a law as immutable as that of gravitation.

The value of life is to improve one's condition.—Abraham Lincoln.

IT'S FOOLISH TO SUFFER

When So Many Hartford People Are Pointing the Way Out

You may be brave enough to stand backache or headache or dizziness. But, if, in addition urination is disordered, look out! If you don't try to fix your sick kidneys, you may fall into the clutches of dangerous disease before you know it. But, if you live more carefully and help your kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, you can stop the pains you have and avoid future danger as well. Don't experiment—use the remedy Hartford people are publicly endorsing. Read this case:

John T. King, carpenter, Washington St., Hartford, says: "Some time ago I suffered from backache and trouble with my kidneys. I found that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me and I can recommend them as a good reliable medicine."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

THE FORD ONE-TON TRUCK

As a matter of fact we might almost as well call it a Three-Ton Truck, for it very rarely carries a smaller sized load. The owners of the Ford truck take advantage of the high qualities of materials which are known to be put in the Ford car, take advantage of the high quality of Ford workmanship which characterizes Ford cars and they overload to the limit. Well, the Ford truck has never broken down with any of these overloads. It delivers expectations and double expectations, so far as carrying capacity is concerned, and while that is not fair to the truck, still the owners are satisfied.

But the Ford one-ton truck, with its aluminum bronze worm drive, its greater weight and strength of frame and its incomparable power plant, is without a reasonable competitor in price, in service, in cost of operation. It is the lowest priced truck on the market, of equal capacity. No other truck on the market operates so economically and we believe there is no other truck that will give as satisfactory and profitable results. Our allotment is limited. Better leave your order without delay.

Give The Orchard A Chance

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 29.—The Extension Horticulturist of the College of Agriculture has been conducting demonstration orchards in various counties in the State of Kentucky in practically every case it has been found that where good methods have been applied and good management given the orchard, profitably returns have been received. Mr. Joseph Polin, Springfield, Ky., had one of the demonstration orchards during the 1920 season. This orchard contained approximately an acre and part of the trees were not given treatment in order to demonstrate what treatment would do as a means of comparison. Mr. Polin has submitted the following figures to the extension horticulturist as representing his season's work.

The treated trees produced over 42 bushels of number one fruit some of these apples were sold during the summer and some were kept for winter use and the price is estimated at the present figures, which makes the total value of the 42 bushels $101. The cost of giving this orchard the necessary treatment such as pruning, and spraying was estimated at $20, making a net profit of over $80 on less than an acre. In speaking of this Mr. Polin stated the returns are much more than he had expected taking into consideration the condition of the orchard; but he is convinced that by giving the orchard good treatment and care which consists of fertilizing the ground, pruning and spraying the trees that the orchard on the average farm in Kentucky can be made to bring in handsome returns. At least it will more than pay its way, which will mean considerable to the people when it is possible for them to have all of the fruit that they want besides being able to sell in order to defray operating expenses. This orchard can be taken as fairly representative of the general orchard conditions of the state and it well illustrates what can be done by good management.

Co-operative Marketing

The Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange is one of the farmers' co-operative marketing organizations which has attracted a great deal of attention during the last year or two. This Exchange was organized in 1918 with 23 local branches in the potato growing section of Michigan. At the end of the second year, the number of local associations had increased to 97. The annual report for its second year of operation indicates that a business of approximately 5 million dollars was transacted during that year at an expense of less than 2 per cent. It is estimated that the organization saved a large sum of money for the growers in the way of increased prices for the products sold through the Exchange. Under the plan of operation followed, the grower signs a contract with his local association to market his potatoes through it, and the local in turn makes a similar contract with the central exchange. Potato growers in Minnesota and North Dakota have recently organized similar exchanges.

Horses Can Be Wintered On The Farm Roughages

Lexington, Ky.—Use of the available roughages on the farm will enable farmers of Kentucky to carry their workstock through the winter economically and satisfactorily according to a statement recently issued by W. S. Anderson, of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Even if they must be sown this form of pasture is economical and after it is gone the cheaper roughages such as stover, straw, clover, timothy and alfalfa make good feeds. When clover and alfalfa are fed it is not necessary to feed any grain and only a small amount is necessary with timothy and stover. Animals maintained on such feeds as these will not put on flesh, but if they are to remain on the farm this fact is not objectionable.

If good bright straw and corn stover are available they may take the place of from one-half to three-fourths of the hay consumed during the winter when the animals are not working. For example, a horse weighing 1,000 pounds will require 10 pounds of shelled corn and 14 pounds of timothy hay when hard at work. The same horse when at rest during the winter can do well on eight or ten pounds of alfalfa hay and unlimited straw with no grain. Clover, nine to twelve pounds, can be substituted for the alfalfa while if only timothy hay is available two to four pounds of grain should be fed. Some grain supplement up to five pounds a day should be substituted if only straw or stover are to be obtained. Some use may be made of cottonseed meal when it is available at a cost not to exceed two cents a pound. A 1,200 pound horse can use a pound a day of it without danger. In those sections where molasses is available and cheap, one pound of it may be substituted for one pound of corn in the ration.

Animals should be gradually conditioned as the work season and spring approaches by receiving more grain in the form of oats, corn or bran. By adding ten pounds of grain daily for each 1,000 pounds of weight to the above ration the horses and mules may be fattened through the winter for the spring market.

Bordeaux Boosts Yield Of Potatoes

Lexington, Ky.—That Bordeaux mixture sprayed on tomatoes will increase the yield has been shown by the University of Kentucky. Experiment Station on a demonstration plot at Livermore, Ky. Four sprays of the mixture were applied to the plot during the summer and those in charge of the demonstration state that the yield was increased 59 per cent. The first spray was applied when the plants were well established in the field and the other three at approximately two-week intervals. Those in charge of the experiment stated that green tomatoes were still on the vines when the season closed.

Wool

Wool growers who have their wool in co-operative pools will be interested in the following quotation from the Market Reporter: "While the general wool situation is unchanged, more interest is being displayed, especially for the finer grades. Managers of wool pools and growers are not trying to force sales. Seemingly they are content to hold their wool and wait for market demands."

An Excellent Combination

CORINNE GRIFFITH

It was particularly appropriate that Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, should have selected Corinne Griffith for the leading role of Clyde Fitch's "The Climbers," for she has been steadily climbing ever since she left her home in the south to become a film player. Now she has reached the top rung of film success. In addition to her imposing personal appearance and histrionic talent, Miss Griffith has the happy faculty of wearing beautiful and unusual gowns with grace and has had a splendid athletic training. Some of her most recent features have been "A Girl at Bay," "The Tower of Jewels," "Human Collateral" and "Deadline at Eleven."

The Tree of Love

I Am
The Tree
Of Love
I am the light
That Christmas-tide
Brings. I am ever green
My limbs are yearning to Bear the burden of gifts of Noel. I live in the high, open Spaces where God smiles brightest on the world, where his light Keeps the memory of Christ's birth Refreshed. Years ago men fought and Knew no time to think of the Gentle
One who spoke of Love. And then one Night a star beamed in the east and Me with a sweet grace. My soul quivered,
And I was born again. And now I come With the Christmas time to remind you of Love—Love, that fades, but lives again. I am
But a dream unless you know me. I wish To ache under the burden of love gifts.
Yes, I am ever green; I live forever, but You do not know me always. I ask You to remember the little ones Whom Love has passed when some Forget me. I pray the light that Never dies shall flame out again
In your heart. For this I live.
For this I ask. I wish
To live and serve.
I am
Love
Hope
Life
I am the Tree of Love.

Make Every Day a Christmas

Too prone are we all to allow our Christmas sentiments to evaporate with the day, forgetting that there are other days in the year for a sympathetic hand clasp and an encouraging word. If Christmas is better than other days in the year, it is because the feeling of brotherhood and fellowship belongs to it.

Why not have every other day in the year filled with brotherliness and fellowship? Why not soften the asperities of life, speak the kindly word, and extend the helping hand for the other 364 days? In a word, why not make every day a Christmas? Carry the Christmas spirit with us throughout the year and say, with Tiny Tim, at all times and seasons, "God bless us, everyone."

Let us keep Christmas in this spirit, then, forgetting not to whom thanks for the many blessings and privileges of this great country of ours are due, looking forward to the age that is coming:

"When the common sense of most shall hold the fretful realm in awe And the kindly earth shall slumber lured in universal law."

SIMPLE HOME-MADE GIFTS

Handkerchiefs, neatly hemmed and an embroidered initial adorning one corner, may be made from a stray remnant of linen or lawn.

Canvas or denim gloves for the woman who nunges out wet clothes are a boon—and so easily made on the sewing machine.

Night slippers are a joy to children who must walk upstairs after preparing for bed. Any material of downy texture is adaptable, and they are made as simply as a stocking foot.

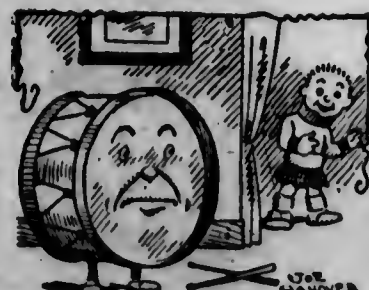

Every country woman should have a knit, woolen corset-cover. A worn sweater, by removing the collar and lower part of the sleeves (parts, by the way, most likely to show wear) serves beautifully for this purpose.

Knowing the size of any little girl's doll, it is a simple matter to make a dress, a bonnet or cloak for it.

Mittens are neatly and quickly made on the sewing machine. Use any flexible woolen material.

A child's fur set can be made from an out-of-date fur piece, or if you have only a trifle of fur use it simply for the rim of the muff and the scarf-end.

To an invalid friend is sent your cheeriest house-plant to gladden the Christmas day.

IN FOR IT
Drum: Gee, from the looks of that husky kid, I'm in for some beating!

SACRED DAY FOR THE BABIES

Never deny the babies their Christmas! It is the shining seal set upon a year of happiness. Let them believe in Santa Claus or St. Nicholas or Kris Kringle, or whatever name the jolly Dutch saint bears in your religion.—Marion Harland.

A CHRISTMAS WISH

Father—What were you wishing? Johnny—I'd like to be the janitor's little boy, 'cause his father has to be polite, too.

FUN IN PLAYING OLD CHRIS

Amusement for Both Young and Old
In Impersonating Blustery, Present-Laden Santa.

HERE is great fun in impersonation and none more than in taking the part of that prince of good fellows, jolly old Kris. Several little brothers, sisters or cousins should make up the audience to be amused, all of them young enough to believe implicitly in the whole story of the journey in reindeer sleigh from the North Pole toy country to one's own particular chimney. Parents and other big folks must, of course, be in the scheme and coached to play an active part.

You will be missed from the company, to be sure, and dad and mother should search the house and look up and down the street and make all sorts of excuses for your absence. And if your voice cannot be continually and very successfully disguised you had better not talk, but convey your meanings by nods and motions, not forgetting to shake hands all round repeatedly and to laugh, slightly but heartily, with much shaking of sides and bending over.

Santa may play at being late, and after he has filled the stockings he is caught by dad, who loudly notifies the household and insists that the old fellow pay a visit and distribute the gifts. Questions are asked about the sleigh, which is supposed to have gone on without his driver, so that the youngsters won't want to run out and look for it.

At the end of the ceremonies, which should not last over half an hour, a sudden disappearance may be arranged by calling the children to the window with the supposed discovery of the returning sleigh, and Santa may slip out of the room door, shed and hide his duds and get out of the house by the back way, returning presently, with much noise, by the front way, as though having been gone for a long time and, of course, much disappointed to have missed seeing Santa.

As for the costume, that is a matter of varied opportunity, except that the white whiskers and wig, the funny little old tasseled cap and the fat stomach are essential.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

Come back to Bethlehem,
The year is on the wane;
A truce to strife that wears life,
A truce to grief and pain.
Oh, heart, return to Bethlehem
And hear its song again!

If airen voices luring thee
Have turned thy thoughts aside,
If thou hast quaffed the bitter draft
Of envy or of pride,
If thou in agony of shame
Hast thy dear Lord denied,

Come back today to Bethlehem!
Though thou hast wandered far,
No rest shall fill thy yearning breast
Until thou see the Star.
Oh, heart, return to Bethlehem,
Where yet the angels are!

EXCUSE FOR CEASING WORK

The Russian working people have always seized upon Christmas as an excuse for ceasing all work for a somewhat lengthy period—sometimes for a month. Before the recent revolution "Koleda" was the celebration on Christmas eve, when the peasants gathered about the houses of the nobles, sang carols and scrambled for the coins tossed to them from the windows. Then came a great masquerade, when peasants of all ages dressed themselves to represent animals, the idea being to perpetuate the memory of the lowliness of the Saviour's birth in the stable.

NINE STILL ARE SEIZED IN KENTUCKY

Lexington, Ky., Dec. —Nine fully equipped stills, 5,000 gallons of illicit beer and from 50 to 200 gallons of moonshine whiskey were seized by Federal agents in a raid in the "South America" district of Whitley County Saturday that resulted in a pitched battle between 30 "shiners" and 14 prohibition agents, according to reports received here from Pineville.

Four of the alleged moonshiners are held in Pineville. They are Henderson Gibson, Byrd Powers, F. W. Hamblin and John Gibson.

Warrants have been issued for 11 other men who are alleged to have belonged to the "shiner army" that engaged in the battle. United States Marshals have begun the search for the men. Five of the nine men reported to have been captured were released by the agents because there were not enough men to guard them. Little difficulty is expected in taking these men into custody again.

Investigation revealed that the "shiners" were organized to protect their stills, all of which were in one locality. All the men were novices at moonshining, according to prohibition agents.

TOLL OF WAR 34,240

Final Report of Surgeon General of Army Discloses

Washington, Dec. — Final figures on army casualties in the World War are contained in the annual report of Major General M. W. Ireland, Surgeon General, made public here, showing 34,249 killed and 224,089 wounded.

The proportion of killed to wounded is about the same as in the Civil War, although mortality from gunshot wounds in the World War was only 8.26 per cent as compared with 13.6 per cent in the Civil War. The report said this indicated that the improved surgical and sanitary methods in the recent war had saved the lives of 5.34 per cent of all American soldiers wounded.

Deaths from wounds totaled 13,691, or slightly more than 6 per cent, while 158,685 of the wounded, or 70.7 per cent were returned to duty, the remainder being invalided home for treatment or discharged.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ANOTHER PICTURE SHOW.

The fairies and all Mr. Sun's friends had so enjoyed his last moving picture show which he had given by the sea that they asked him if he wouldn't give another.

Over Their Feet.

"I will delightfully," he said. So that very afternoon he commenced to describe the pictures which everyone could see.

"Of course," he said, "I suppose you could all see these yourselves, but sometimes we don't see everything that is beautiful around us. Sometimes we need others to help us see the beauties around us and to show them to us."

"This afternoon," he said, "we will look at the great rocks and at the little islands that are about here. We will see some of the wonderful colors of the weeds which grow on the rocks and of which Mother Ocean is very proud."

"She calls all the weeds which grow on the rocks and in the water where the rocks are her Ocean Garden and she is devoted to it. So look at all the interesting colors, the reds and the greens, and the browns. Look at the seaweed which makes a snuffling sound when any one presses the little puffy ends it has."

"See the breakers coming up right over the rocks and the lighthouses ready with their red lights for the evening when they must always be on the lookout to warn of danger."

"There are the spaces between the rocks and the water is going in between and about them, playing hide-and-go-seek and having such fun."

"It is nice to watch that game and to see how the Ocean fairies play games with the rocks of Mr. Coast."

"There are some children sitting there with bathing suits on. They are letting the spray from the waves come over their feet and they are hearing the songs which Mother Ocean is singing, now softly and then again with great power and strength."

"There is a great hole which one of Mother Ocean's children made in the sand with the help of Mr. Tide, and the children are making castles."

"Soon I will be going to bed and I will go as beautifully as I can and then I will make my bow before the final curtain and the curtain will be made of one of the loveliest sunsets ever any of you saw."

"But before I go I want you to take a look where there is a great row of rocks along the coast. There you will see green seaweed like grass and reddish seaweed and seaweed of all kinds and of many lovely shades of brown and red and green."

"You will see that the families of Limpets are there. They cling to the rocks and don't travel about. If they lose hold on their homes they quickly find other homes and cling to them in the same way."

"And you must look at all the queer shells in the water and on the beach, for you will see a great many today. Some of the children have gathered a number of them. And they are making islands and forts and peninsulas in the sand. They are using shells to back up the sand and to keep the water trickling along in the places they need it in so as to make their islands and all quite right!"

"And the Sand fairies are having a very good time and those fairies who are in the pools are weeping salt tears of fun, really real tears of fun for they've laughed so hard and danced about the beach so much that they say they've never had such a good time."

"And some of them went into Sand races where they raced over the beach and blew into people's faces as they rushed by and covered lots of faces with sand!"

"But take a look at the children in their green and yellow and blue and pink dresses and at those few who are still in their bathing suits. For the day has been a hot autumn day and so some of them came out, but the days of bathing and beach-playing are over. Still we'll have a moving picture here when summer comes again," said Mr. Sun.

And he made a great bow behind his curtain which was one of the loveliest sunsets ever seen, a red and glowing sunset with all sorts of beautiful colors in the sky, every lovely color you can think of for they were a part of Mr. Sun's curtain before he bowed his thank you!

"DOG OWNER'S WARNING"

Owners and harborers of dogs are hereby warned to procure their dog tags for the year 1921, at once, as only a short time intervenes before those who fail to procure tags will be held to be in violation of the law and exposed and subject to prosecution and fine, as the law says that you must procure your dog tags or before the 1st day of January, for the succeeding year.

As one agency for the enforcement of this statute, in the discharge of my duty as Sheriff, I earnestly desire that you escape trouble and the payment of cost wholly unnecessary and easy to avoid, and that I be relieved from the obnoxious duty imposed upon me by the law of assisting in its enforcement by bringing my friends into court for prosecution, so get your dog tags at once and have the matter behind you.

You can get your dog tags by sending to the County Clerk, together with the proper fees and postage, the following information, viz:

Your name.
Your Post Office address.
No. of Your Voting precinct.
What breed of dog.
The dog's age.
Male or female.
Color and markings.
The license fee is as follows:
First male dog $1.00, all others $2.00 each. First female dog $2.00, all others $4.00 each. You must send postage.

S. A. BRATCHER,
Sheriff Ohio County.

About those star diamond rings at Tappan's Jewelry Store. A $50 ring has the appearance of a $150 ring and a $75 ring, a $200 ring. Then we have a store full of the most elegant line of jewelry suitable for ladies and gentlemen of any age.

Jewelry is the most appreciated gift because it can be kept a lifetime. Those who have come in say we have a beautiful showing and are buying fast, so you had better not wait too long or the things you want may be gone, and too late to reorder.

J. B. TAPPAN,

Merry Christmas

Again this store extends to you the good, old-fashioned greeting.

It is a very short message, but we will feel satisfied if it conveys even a small part of the great good we will hold toward our patrons.
